

New Perspectives

Interdisciplinary Journal of Central & East European Politics and International Relations

Vol. 24, No. 1/2016

ÚSTAV
MEZINÁRODNÍCH VZTAHŮ
PRAHA  INSTITUTE
OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
PRAGUE

Editorial Board

Louis Armand, Charles University, Prague
Pelín Ayan, Anglo-American University, Prague
Pamela Ballinger, University of Michigan
Mitchell Belfer, Metropolitan University Prague
Dorothee Bohle, Central European University, Budapest
Mats Braun, Metropolitan University Prague
Christian Bueger, Cardiff University
Kathy Burrell, University of Liverpool
Juraj Buzalka, Comenius University, Bratislava
Vasyl Cherepanyn, National University of Kyiv
Ondřej Císař, Charles University, Prague
Gary Cohen, University of Minnesota
Rupert Cox, University of Manchester
Mitchell Dean, Copenhagen Business School
Ondřej Ditrych, Charles University, Prague
Jan Drahokoupil, European Trade Union Institute, Brussels
Matthias Ebenau, German Metal Workers Union, Beverungen
William Eddleston, Anglo-American University, Prague
Rachel Epstein, University of Denver
Rick Fawn, University of St. Andrews
Andrej Findor, Comenius University, Bratislava
Karolina Follis, Lancaster University
Simone Molin Friis, University of Copenhagen
Dariusz Gafijczuk, Newcastle University
Sarah Green, University of Helsinki
Béla Greskovits, Central European University, Budapest
Jakub Grygar, Charles University, Prague
Xavier Guillaume, University of Edinburgh
Lene Hansen, University of Copenhagen
Jane Hardy, University of Hertfordshire
David Hugill, Simon Fraser University, Vancouver
Julien Jeandesboz, University of Amsterdam
Petr Jehlička, The Open University
Markus Kienscherf, Free University of Berlin
Michal Kořan, Institute of International Relations, Prague
James Krapfl, McGill University, Toronto

Any opinions expressed are those of the individual authors and thus represent neither the views of the editors nor those of the Institute of International Relations.

Articles appearing in this journal are abstracted or indexed in Scopus, Academic Search Premier (via EBSCO host), ABI/INFORM Global, Academic Research Library (via ProQuest), Columbia International Affairs Online (CIAO), the International Bibliography of the Social Sciences (IBSS), World Affairs Online and the Czech National Bibliography.

ISSN 2336-825X (Print) ISSN 2336-8268 (On-line) ČÍSLO REGISTRACE MK ČR 6554

Petr Kratochvíl, Institute of International Relations, Prague
Fritz Kratochwil, Central European University, Budapest
Vendulka Kubálková, University of Miami
Xymena Kurowska, Central European University, Budapest
Merje Kuus, University of British Columbia
George Lawson, London School of Economics and Political Science
David Lipka, London School of Economics
Nicolas Maslowski, Charles University, Prague
Marek Mikuš, Comenius University, Bratislava
Can Mutlu, Bilkent University, Ankara
Martin Myant, European Trade Union Institute, Brussels
Andrew Neal, University of Edinburgh
Iver B. Neumann, London School of Economics
Zoran Oklopčić, Carleton University, Ottawa
Hannes Peltonen, University of Tampere
Jiří Přibáň, Cardiff University
Michael Pullman, Charles University, Prague
Ivana Radačić, Ivo Pilar Institute of Social Sciences in Zagreb
Prem Kumar Rajaram, Central European University, Budapest
Erik Ringmar, Lund University
Paul Roe, Central European University, Budapest
Jan Růžička, Aberystwyth University
Mark Salter, University of Ottawa
Helene Sjørusen, University of Oslo
Eva Špačková, VSB Technical University of Ostrava
Łukasz Stanek, University of Manchester
Luděk Sýkora, Charles University, Prague
Juha Vuori, University of Helsinki
Johan van der Walt, University of Luxembourg
Wouter Werner, VU University Amsterdam
Andrew Wilson, University College London
Ruben Zaiotti, Dalhousie University
Kimberley Elman Zarecor, Iowa State University
Peter Zusi, University College London

Benjamin Tallis

Pavel Barša, J. Peter Burgess, Derek Sayer

Ela Drażkiewicz-Grodzicka, Gábor Egry, Kathrin Hörschelmann,

Lubomír Lupták, Tomáš Profant, Clara Royer, Stuart Shields, Tomasz Zarycki

Jan Blažek, Jan Daniel, Tereza Valny, Markéta Wittichová

Institute of International Relations, Nerudova 3, 118 50 Prague 1, Czech Republic

Markéta Wittichová, newperspectives@iir.cz

Journal: www.newperspectives.iir.cz, Blog: www.ceenewperspectives.iir.cz, Publisher: www.iir.cz newperspectives@iir.cz and/or tallis@iir.cz

€99, p. a., €40, single issues. Send orders to newperspectives@iir.cz

Jakub Tayari

Petr Dvořák – Tiskárna, Dobříš

Editor-in-Chief

Senior Editors

Associate Editors

Assistant Editors

Editorial and Administrative Office

Enquiries and Submissions
Subscriptions

Layout Printed by

Notes on Contributors

MARIYA Y. OMELICHEVA is an Associate Professor in the Department of Political Science at the University of Kansas. She holds a PhD (2007) in Political Science from Purdue University and a JD in International Law (2000) from Moscow National Law Academy. Her primary research interests are human rights and counterterrorism, Russia's foreign policy, regionalism and geopolitics in Eurasia, and democracy promotion in the post-Soviet space. She has published extensively on these subjects in Terrorism and Political Violence, Europe-Asia Studies, International Journal of Human Rights, Central Asia Survey, Cambridge Review of International Relations, and other journals. She is the author of Counterterrorism Policies in Central Asia (Routledge, 2011) and Democracy in Central Asia: Competing Perspectives and Alternate Strategies (University Press of Kentucky, 2015), and the editor of Nationalism and Identity Construction in Central Asia (Lexington, 2015).

Correspondence email: omeliche@ku.edu

JOHAN VAN DER WALT is a Professor at the University of Luxembourg. His research focuses on legal philosophy and theory, jurisprudence and constitutional theory. He is a holder of honorary and extraordinary professorships from the Universities of the Witwatersrand (2007) and Pretoria (2009). His most recent books are Constitutional Sovereignty and Social Solidarity in Europe (co-edited with Jeffrey Ellsworth) and The Horizontal Effect Revolution and the Question of Sovereignty. His other work includes articles published in journals such as Social & Legal Studies and Constellations.

Correspondence email: johan.vanderwalt@uni.lu

TOMÁŠ WEISS is the Head of the Department of European Studies at the Faculty of Social Sciences, Charles University. He graduated in European Studies from the Hamburger Universität für Wirtschaft und Politik (2004) and from the Institute of International Studies, Faculty of Social Sciences, Charles University, Prague (2005), where he also completed his Ph.D. studies (2011), and is now lecturing. In 2007 he studied at Pazmány Péter Katolikus Egyetem in Budapest. In 2004 he carried out an internship at the EU Institute for Security Studies in Paris. In the past, he worked as a research fellow at the Institute of International Relations and at the EUROPEUM Institute for European Policy, both in Prague. In his research, he focuses on the foreign and security policy of the EU and its member states and on transatlantic relations.

Correspondence email: weiss@fsv.cuni.cz

LIDIYA ZUBYTSKA is currently pursuing her doctorate degree in political science at the University of Kansas (ABD). Her research centers on domestic factors shaping foreign policy in states undergoing political transition, in particular party politics, economic reforms and civil society issues in Eastern and Central Europe. A graduate of the University of Notre Dame, Lidiya taught at the Ukrainian Catholic University and worked on administrative reform in the Ukrainian government. Before coming to Kansas, Lidiya served as a program liaison for Ukraine at the Woodrow Wilson Center for International Scholars in Washington, DC.

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Correspondence email: zubytka@ku.edu

FORUM

ANATOLY RESHETNIKOV obtained a Master of Arts degree in International Relations and European Studies from Central European University in 2010 after defending his thesis on the problem of political identity and Great Projects politics in contemporary Russia. Currently he continues with his research at the PhD level in the Doctoral School of Political Science, Public Policy and International Relations (IR track). In his dissertation, Anatoly is reconstructing a genealogy of Russian great power discourse from the beginning of Russia's statehood until today. In addition to CEU, Anatoly also did research in Saint-Petersburg and London.

Correspondence email: Reshetnikov_Anatoly@phd.ceu.edu

SERGEI PROZOROV is University Lecturer in World Politics at the Department of Political and Economic Studies, University of Helsinki. He is the author of seven monographs, the most recent being The Biopolitics of Stalinism (Edinburgh University Press, 2016). He has also published numerous articles on political philosophy and international relations in Political Theory, Theory, Culture and Society, Philosophy and Social Criticism, Continental Philosophy Review, Political Geography, Political Studies, Millennium, International Theory and other international journals. His research interests include continental political thought, biopolitics, materialism and totalitarianism.

Correspondence email: sergei.prozorov@helsinki.fi

GRAEME P. HERD is Professor of Transnational Studies at the George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies in Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany. His teaching and research interests focus on diverse aspects of international and transnational security studies related to the Euro-Atlantic and Eurasian space. His recent major publications include: Graeme P. Herd and John Kriendler (eds.), Understanding NATO in the 21st Century: Alliance Strategies, Security and Global Governance (Routledge, 2013).

Correspondence email: graeme.herd@marshallcenter.org

MARK GALEOTTI is a Professor of Global Affairs at New York University. From August he will be the principal director of the Mayak Intelligence consultancy in Prague and a senior research fellow at the Institute of International Relations Prague. He specialises in modern Russian history and security affairs and transnational and organised crime. Before moving to NYU, he was Head of History at Keele University in the UK. He was a special advisor at the Foreign & Commonwealth Office, covering post-Soviet organised crime and Russian security and intelligence services. He has published widely, with 14 authored and edited books to his name (his most recent, Spetsnaz: Russia's Special Forces, came out in 2015) and numerous articles in the academic, professional and popular press. He is a columnist for the Moscow Times, Business New Europe and War On The Rocks.

Correspondence email: markgaleotti@gmail.com

ALEXANDER DULEBA is the Director of the Slovak Foreign Policy Association and the Head researcher of its Eastern Europe programme. He graduated from Taras Shevchenko University in Kyiv (1989). He got his associate professorship at Comenius University in 2009. He has worked in the SFPA since 1995. Since 2010 he has been a lecturer at the Institute of Political Sciences of Presov University. His research focuses on Slovakian foreign policy, domestic and foreign politics of post-Soviet countries (mostly Russia and Ukraine), the European Neighbourhood Policy and the energy politics of Slovakia, the Visegrad countries and the European Union.

Correspondence email: duleba@sfa.sk

IRINA KOBRINSKAYA is the deputy director of the Center for Strategic Case Studies at the Russian Academy of Science as well as a leading research fellow at the IMEMO and an executive director of the Foundation for Prospective Studies and Initiatives. She is the co-author of 30 monographs, and author of about 200 articles in periodicals on domestic and foreign policy and international security. Her expertise on foreign policy issues is regularly requested for on BBC, Sky News, Russia Today and The World Press.

Correspondence email: psifoundation@imemo.ru

ROUNDTABLE PARTICIPANTS

BENJAMIN TALLIS (moderator) is Senior Research Fellow and Co-ordinator of the Centre for European Security at the Institute of International Relations in Prague. He is also the Editor-in-Chief of New Perspectives. Tallis' research focuses on issues relating to borders, mobility and migration as well as the security and politics of CEE and the EU. He obtained his PhD in International Politics from the University of Manchester where he defended his thesis 'A Moveable East: Identities, Borders and Orders in the Enlarged EU and its Eastern Neighbourhood'. He is a frequent contributor to a variety of Czech and European media and has also written widely on the politics of architecture in (Central & Eastern) Europe. He previously worked on security missions for the EU and the OSCE in the Balkans and the former Soviet Union.

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Correspondence email: tallis@iir.cz

JAN BĚLÍČEK is an essayist, critic & reviewer, currently serving as editor of the Czech progressive daily website A2larm.cz. Apart from monitoring the Czech literary business & industry, he is a frequent commentator (for, e.g., Respekt magazine) on current political and social affairs, and is publicly engaged in issues surrounding minorities and migrants (cf. his support of the Klinika Social Centre – <http://politicalcritique.org/cee/czech-republic/2016/you-cant-evict-ideas/> – here in English), and critiquing political oppression and non-democratic phenomena of the Czech society at large.

Correspondence email: belicek@advojka.cz

DITA MALEČKOVÁ graduated in Philosophy at the Charles University in Prague. Currently she is a PhD candidate of Information Science and works as a lecturer at the New Media Studies department where she is teaching philosophy, visual studies and new media art. Her interest lies in the intersection of art, technology, science and philosophy with a focus on the perception of visual information in the context of digital humanities.

Correspondence email: ditamorg@gmail.com

GREGOR PODLOGAR, who was born in Ljubljana in 1974, graduated in Philosophy from the University of Ljubljana. Aleph Press published his first two collections of poetry, Naselitve (States, 1997) and Vrtoglavica zanosna (Joy in Vertigo, 2002). His latest book, Vesela nova ušesa (Happy New Ears, 2010), was published by Sherpa Press. A selection of his work was published in Six Slovenian Poets (Arc Publication, 2006). He co-edits the poetry web-page lyrikline (www.lyrikline.org) and is a co-organizer of the Ljubljana poetry festival Trnovski terceti, and a national radio show host (Radio Slovenija). He currently lives in Vienna.

Correspondence email: gregorpodlogar@yahoo.com

BORIS A. NOVAK, born in Belgrade in 1953, is a Slovene poet, playwright, translator, and essayist. He is a Professor at the Department for Comparative Literature and Literary Theory at the Faculty of Arts of the University of Ljubljana. Novak was President of the Slovene PEN (1991–1996) and Chair of the Writers for Peace Committee of International PEN (1994–2000). Novak organized humanitarian help for refugees from the former Yugoslavia and writers from Sarajevo, which was one of the biggest humanitarian efforts in the history of the world writers organization. From 2002 he served as Vice-President of International PEN. Novak has published more than 55 books.

Correspondence email: boris-a.novak@guest.arnes.si

LOUIS ARMAND is a Sydney-born writer who has lived in Prague since 1994. He is the author of eight novels, including Breakfast at Midnight (2012) and The Combinations (2016). His work has been included in the Penguin Anthology of Australian Poetry and Best Australian Poems. His critical writings include The Organ-Grinder's Monkey: Culture After the Avant-garde (2013) and Videology (2015). He directs the Centre for Critical and Cultural Theory in the Philosophy Faculty of Charles University, where he also edits the international arts magazine VLAK.

Correspondence email: itteraria@gmail.com